Directions:

• Create a personal code of ethics that can be applied to any scenario to test if it is a good or bad decision to allow it to occur. Your code of ethics should include multiple elements that scenarios can be judged against.

  Example: Rotary 4 Way Test.

• After you have developed a personal code of ethics, create a scenario that you can share with someone else that they can use to test their personal code of ethics.

• Create a Word document (MLA format) that includes, and explains the elements of your personal code of ethics in bulleted format.

  o Include the scenario that you created, and apply your code of ethics to it.

  o Include the scenario that was shared with you, and apply your code of ethics to it as well.

  o Conclude with an analysis of application of your personal code of ethics to the scenario that was shared with you.
